FormFactor, Inc. Withdraws Special Meeting Proposal

LIVERMORE, CA, Oct 08, 2008 (MARKET WIRE via COMTEX News Network) -- FormFactor, Inc. (NASDAQ: FORM) today announced it has withdrawn its stock option exchange proposal that was scheduled to be considered at a special meeting of stockholders on Wednesday, October 8, 2008. The proposal asked stockholders to approve an opportunity for employees to exchange underwater options for a smaller number of new equity awards. FormFactor said that although based on preliminary indications the vote would have been very close, the lack of support from some institutional stockholders has caused it to reconsider the terms and timing of the proposal. FormFactor continues to consider the creation of meaningful equity incentives for employees to be important to the company's success.

About FormFactor:

Founded in 1993, FormFactor, Inc. (NASDAQ: FORM) is the leader in advanced wafer probe cards, which are used by semiconductor manufacturers to electrically test integrated circuits, or ICs. The company's wafer sort, burn-in and device performance testing products move IC testing upstream from post-packaging to the wafer level, enabling semiconductor manufacturers to lower their overall production costs, improve yields, and bring next-generation devices to market. FormFactor is headquartered in Livermore, California with operations in Europe, Asia and North America. For more information, visit the company's website at www.formfactor.com.
